SESSION SUMMARY

SITE: Abandoned Spanish Mission on top of a Mesa in Arizona

..... Although there was some contact with the signal line, it just didn't feel right. The information provided was good, as far as it went. The overall geographic area came through, however, at no time was there a feeling of verticals, angles, or man-made structures..... the feeling was one of a vast, open, empty area..... there was a definite lack of sensory data available through the signal line..... was unable to work through noise from leave raking detail outside of the building.
